Carson popped balloon #5!
The 1st graders got to do free time
in our classroom 😊.
Ms. Linda and Ms. Pat were also pulling kids to read with the dogs on Friday.

hello
KINDERGARTEN

"YES DAY" in Kindergarten!
A day full of fun!

Pj day, pet day, dance & gymnastics party, taco food truck, ice cream party, card and board games, and extra play time! It was described as "the best day ever!!" by many of them!

The 1st and 3rd graders teamed up for our very last STEAM activity for this school year. Our challenge was to predict which items would sink and which would float. The constant was a plastic Easter egg where we put each item in before dropping in the water. This threw kids off a bit because EVERYTHING floated in the egg. Once we removed the constant, then we started seeing more sinkers.

2025 End of Year FIELD DAY!

About Me

My husband Juan and I have been together for 10 years and we have 4-yr-old daughter, Sophia. What I love about my job is snuggling with the babies and seeing their first everything, like their first crawl, steps, teeth, etc.

Fun Facts about me:

- I love cooking and baking
- I love taking pictures
- I love exploring new places with my husband and daughter

Favorites:

Food: Mexican
TV Show: Will & Grace
Movie: The Crow and Underworld
Vacation spot: Mexico and Puerto Rico

In 1st grade, we have been doing a balloon pop countdown to the end of the year! Each balloon contained a fun activity for the day. The kids really enjoyed this fun way to end the year!

Ms. Jug's 4K class did their end-of-year Llama Walk on Thursday! This is a tradition that the kids look forward to all year! Our upper grade friends lined the halls and clapped for them as they walked.

Landon and Oliver won the 2nd grade Jeopardy review so they got to pie Mrs. Marshall in the face! Since the whole class did so well, they all got a turn!
