We held our Family Thanksgiving Feast on Wednesday this week. We had a great turnout, just under 100 people served! Thank you to everyone who attended and to Miss Shelly for an amazing meal!

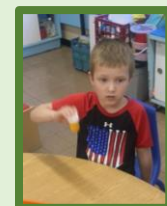

Last week's STEM lesson had the students examine structures like roots, branches, and leaves that keep trees from blowing down. Students used their observations to create their own tree-inspired umbrellas that stay up in the wind.

Learning colors
& recognizing letters this week.

In Kindergarten Science we have been talking about type of matter: solid, liquid, and gases. We did an experiment where we turned a liquid into a solid by using our muscles! (Whipping cream into butter) then we ate it! It was fun and delicious!
